

Update Privacy

Data protection Update

28 November 2007

This newsletter is sent from NautaDutilh

Changes with regard to telemarketing/spam

Changes with regard to spam and telemarketing are expected in the near future. The OPTA has responded to the proposed changes in telemarketing. For more information see OPTA's vision (only available in Dutch).

NautaDutilh and Denton Wilde Sapte collaborate on a unique European privacy and data protection website

If your business processes personal data - and which business doesn't given that even simple databases containing the names and addresses of employees, contact persons and the like fall under this definition - it must comply with the legislation on personal data protection and other regulatory requirements.

A multidisciplinary and pan-European approach is required to provide effective and efficient advice on privacy and data protection. That's why our team, based in Amsterdam and Brussels, always co-operates with specialists from various practice areas.

Click here for more information.

Contact

For the Netherlands:
Jacqueline van Essen
T: +31 20 71 71 714
F: +31 20 71 71 361

For Belgium:
Liesbeth Weynants
T: +32 2 566 84 54
F: +32 2 566 80 06

For more information on privacy, visit our website.

NautaDutilh is a continuing contributor to a unique project that provides in-depth information free of charge on data protection laws in several European countries. For more information, go to www.dataprotectionlaws.com.

Privacy / General conditions / Disclaimer

This publication is intended to highlight certain issues. It does not intend to be comprehensive or to provide legal advice. If you would like to unsubscribe please use the unsubscribe option on the newsletter website. You can also send an e-mail to unsubscribe@newsletter-nautadutilh.com. Please make sure that you put the word 'unsubscribe' in the subject field of your e-mail.