Geert Raaijmakers appointed Professor of Corporate and Securities Law at the VU University of Amsterdam

Amsterdam, September 4, 2007 - Geert Raaijmakers has been appointed Professor of Corporate and Securities Law at the VU University of Amsterdam with effect from September 1. In his research and teaching, he will focus in particular on corporate governance and corporate finance, including company financing, public and private M&A transactions, anti-takeover devices, shareholder activism and the securities law rules to which listed companies are subject such as those relating to market abuse and market supervision by the AFM.

Professor Raaijmakers has been a partner at NautaDutilh in Amsterdam since August 2006. In his practice he has been involved in public and private M&A transactions and in advising clients on corporate and securities law issues and corporate governance. He will work at the university one day a week.
